

Advertising with RaceDayCT.com is more than just placing an ad on a web site. It is joining forces with cutting edge, timely auto racing news at every turn and being in view of thousands of fans looking to each page every day for up to date news on their favorite sport 12 months of the year.

Partnering with RaceDayCT is becoming part of a site that caters to one of the most dedicated group of sports fans not only in Connecticut and New England, but beyond.

Unparalleled Experience

The foundation below RaceDayCT is something any advertiser can be proud of. Each story on the site has the name Shawn Courchesne attached to it. Shawn brings 16 years of covering motorsports full-time for the nation's longest continually published newspaper, The Hartford Courant, to this on-line auto racing publication.

Over 19 years as a sports reporter at the Hartford Courant, Shawn worked for a sports department that was regularly recognized as one of the best in the country. During his time at the Courant Shawn served numerous roles, he was the paper's UConn football beat writer, he served as the department's first web reporter and first online video producer, he was a valued and award winning feature writer and long contributed to work with The Courant's top sports beats.

Over the years Shawn garnered numerous awards for his writing for the The Courant, along the way covering everything from Major League Baseball, the National Football League and world championship boxing to professional bull riding, water skiing and high school sports of all sorts.

It is not only the years of experience that Shawn brings to this publication but the relationships, reputation, and respect from drivers, fans, track owners, vendors, and NASCAR officials that cannot be compared at the local level with any other reporter or media outlet focused in this area. That is what has made RaceDayCT so successful in such a short period of time.

Shawn brings traditional reporting, social media, and opinion to multiple local race tracks and divisions including Thompson Motor Speedway, Stafford Motor Speedway, the Waterford Speedbowl, and New Hampshire Motor Speedway and the respective series' they host. Shawn has the niche on auto racing coverage in Connecticut and southern New England.

Partnerships

At RaceDayCT we want to create more than just a deal between publisher and advertiser. RaceDayCT wants to build relationships.

At RaceDayCT your company will be more than just one in a lineup of banner ads linking to your site. RaceDayCT will allow you to open up your advertising in all new ways through formats far more interactive and exposing than through print publications or typical websites.

And that reach will go beyond just the website and follow through with advertising that will take advantage of RaceDayCT's fully integrated use of exposure through top social media formats.

In just a few months of existence the RaceDayCT foundation has already been built strong. Traffic has been high and consistent and race fans and those involved directly in the sport already look toward the website as the No. 1 source for racing news and opinion locally.

Since its inception RaceDayCT has garnered attention from numerous well known national media outlets including NASCAR.com, Sirius NASCAR Radio and the Motor Racing Network to name a few.

Ad Recognition

What about finding a group of consumers that specifically gravitate toward companies that make an effort to advertise in some capacity within the sport they follow?

Studies have shown that NASCAR fans and racing fans in general are more loyal to the companies involved in advertising within the sport than in any other sport. Through RaceDayCT you can expose your company to that loyal group each and every day.

Through the first four months of existence, RaceDayCT has averaged about 14,000 unique visitors each month and over 100,000 page views each month.

And at RaceDayCT we have the plan for your company no matter the level of commitment you desire. We'll find a way to make your budget work and get racing fans looking to your company for their needs.

Finally, local advertisers have an option for marketing within a sphere of influence that cannot be compared with any other: the web site, the name, the fans and your business in the headlines.

RaceDayCT will not only place your advertisement on his web site but will work with you throughout the entire sales contract to provide coverage for your business that meets the needs of your company. This may include advertising special events or utilizing advertising in unique and agreed upon ways.

With Shawn Courchesne and RaceDayCT you can expect the following core uncompromised operating principals:

- Integrity
- Honest Reporting
- Unbiased Coverage
- Diligence
- Fair Objectivity
- Quality work
- Timeliness

We look forward to partnering with you.

Contact RaceDayCT at: shawncourchesne@gmail.com